EDITORIAL by Rod Jones

Hello, again.

Summer is really here now. As I write, it's a glorious sunny day, and I'm in the garden, with a glass of Pimms close by. Cheers. I hope when you read this in three weeks time for tennis fans, it will be the same. "Carpe Diem", my life motto. Let's enjoy it while we can. Much has happened in the last two months. We have a new Mayor, (well done Tom, it was a very popular result round here,) a new Borough Councillor( well done Nicky,) our Parish Council are voted back in, and we got a favourable result in the EW Rail saga. Unfortunately Anglian Water, as expected, are still causing a lot of traffic problems. I live next to the school, and I know it will soon become a whole lot worse, but we have to live with it. The world is changing rapidly.

There is a lot to report on, in this issue. This is the time of year when garden parties, sports days, festivals etc are all the rage. On 1st July there will be the school festival Kidchella. This has come after countless hours of preparation, and if last year was anything to go by, it will be a lot fun. 1st July, get your diaries out now!

There is also the Party in the Park on 15th July at Howbury Hall. Only 499 tickets available. See all the details in the poster on p19.Great entertainment with live music, food and drink or bring a picnic, stalls, games, workshops, sports, raffle with a helicopter ride as the star prize and much else. It is all for a good cause, repairs to our church. So book now, to avoid disappointment. The raffle tickets are now on sale from Amanda Quince (870704).

Also, raising much-needed funds for All Saints, a new Creative Club is being set up. Details on p 17. Although the church floor is still not ready, we hope it soon will be, as the Bishop of Bedford is due here on 30th July. Please read Rev. Ian's letter, as he details all the planned events. He is even sorting out ideas for next Christmas, and we are still in the beginning of June. Also, Luton Town FC get a mention, now they are in the Premier League. Good luck, you Hatters.

Now, in our magazine, we do like to focus on things of interest, and what could be more interesting than toilet rolls? I jest you not. Our roving reporter on p10 has dug up an interesting new initiative, well worth a read, and we wouldn't print it if it wasn't in the best possible taste. An unusual angle on a bog-standard topic. (Sorry, what a terrible joke, I couldn't resist it!). Finally Anne has printed a very good article on fading memory, a controversial subject. I regularly forget where I've left my keys. I also occasionally have to wrack my brains to recall a name. This article, which we were invited to print, is extremely positive, and advises us that this is not necessarily a bad omen for the future, but is natural as we get older. I found this very hopeful and encouraging, and I do hope you read it. The last couple of years have been tricky, but there is a lot to look forward to in the next few months. The weather forecast is good. Wimbledon starts soon. We always try to put a positive slant to our magazine, so Carpe Diem. Relax, and enjoy the summer.

LETTER FROM THE VICAR

This time of year we seem to be looking forward – our young people are looking forward to the end of the school year where they will either move up to the next year, or move on to the exciting opportunities ahead at a new school. Whatever their situation, I am sure that each and everyone of them (and their teachers) are looking forward to the summer break, a period of rest and recuperation, a time for families, friends and always time for summer fun. Many football fans are looking forward to the start of a new season, when the joys or frustrations of last season are put behind them, and the potential for great things this season are in the heart of supporters of every club – some supporters may be even more enthusiastic than usual this year, especially if your team has gained promotion to the Premier League to play with the "big boys"; OK, even if it was through a penalty shoot-out at Wembley (what a day. Come on Luton!!)

We as a church continue to look forward too, even if the liturgical season is called "Ordinary Time", I know that here in Renhold it will be far from ordinary. Firstly, and most importantly, we are (still) looking forward to moving back into church at the completion of the floor restoration works. We appreciate that the project has overrun significantly, but work is well on the way and as I write, many of the incredibly heavy York stone slabs are now in position, being held in place by yet more lime mortar which is taking time to dry out naturally before we can walk on it and place the heavy church furniture back in place. The progress made in recent weeks may appear slow, but each one of those heavy stone slabs has required fine cutting to ensure the best possible fit into their unique place in the jigsaw puzzle, and our beautiful medieval building, like many houses built today, is not always square, but we are getting there, honest!!

We are also looking forward to the Parish's "Party in the Park" on 15th July. This event is going to be really special, and we cannot wait to be part of the party, which is going to help us complete payment of those floor restoration bills. This event at Howbury Hall promises to be full of fun and entertainment, with tickets limited to 499, but at the time of writing there is still availability so please contact Amanda Quince at pace.quince@gmail.com for more details and to reserve a place

As I advised in the last edition, we are looking to extend the range of services that we offer throughout the summer, some will be different to what you would expect from church. On Sunday 16th July we are holding our morning service at Howbury Hall at 11:00am, this will be an outdoor service which I hope will bring a different dimension to our worship. On Sunday 30th July our morning service will be more traditional and led by the Bishop of Bedford. On Sunday 13th August we will be heading outside again when our family service will take place in the Peace Garden at Renhold Primary School – this is the most special and spiritual of places which is well worth experiencing on its own, and here our service will be interactive and fun, but with that serious message of course. Another outdoor service takes place on Sunday 27th August when we hold our "Hymns & Pimm's" service at 4:00pm in the beautiful grounds of our church, all hymns will be well known, well-loved favourites and I am sure the liquid lubrication of the vocal chords will make this a service to remember. (Continued overleaf)

Again, as advised last month we have our second Christmas Tree Festival in December where we are looking to present more than the 21 amazing Christmas Trees exhibited by people of our Parish and its organisations last year – please do use your holiday this summer to get in the creative zone and make your first plans to display your tree at this year's festival. As usual, a full schedule of services is listed within this edition; we continue to use the All Saints Renhold Facebook page to Live-stream services where possible, with service sheets being available on our website www.all-saints-church-renhold.org for those who are unable to attend church in person. Enjoy your summer, take care and stay safe - God Bless... Rev. Ian

I Heard it on the Radio Pauline Capell

I sometimes think that if I was asked to choose between owning a radio or a TV I'd choose the radio every time. Besides my regular favourite programmes, I often tune in whilst driving around, and invariably I hear all sorts of interesting snippets of the "well, I never knew that" variety. I thought I'd share a few of these with you.

'Who Gives a Crap'

For instance, have you ever heard of a company called 'Who Gives a Crap?' Now that's a Marmite title - you either love it or hate it, but bear with me, as it's quite a concept. It manufactures 100% recycled toilet paper, and its unique selling point is to donate 50% of its profits towards building toilets and improving sanitation in the developing world. It employs over 200 people in 8 different countries. 2 billion people globally have no access to adequate sanitation and 700 avoidable child deaths happen everyday as a result. I heard the story on a radio 4 programme called You and Yours Gap Finders. Simon Griffiths and his co-founders launched the brand in 2012 in Australia with a crowdfunding campaign. Simon sat on a toilet in their warehouse for 50 hours on a live web feed, refusing to move until they had raised $50,000 and had enough pre-orders to start production. There was a set back almost immediately because, in their enthusiasm, the first design was missing a fundamental element - perforations !! Back to the drawing board, and soon individually wrapped, brightly coloured packages were being rolled out. At the bottom of each box was an emergency roll wrapped in red to remind you to re-order. Initially it was sold on a direct to customer basis sending large boxes to your door. In 2017, it launched into the UK and the brand is now expanding its retail presence and, rumour has it, will soon be on our supermarket shelves. Keep a lookout.

Underground vaults

You have probably heard of the underground seed vault in Norway, a secure back up store of over 1 million seed samples buried deep in the Arctic permafrost to preserve crop diversity. But you may not have heard that scientists are launching another such storage vault for human poo. The aim is to preserve microbes, the trillions of bacteria that live in our guts. Microbiota diversity is crucial for our health and wellbeing, even our survival, and storing samples from every corner of the world for posterity means that current bacteria, long lost at some stage due to changes in our diet etc. might one day be revived and used to treat disease.

Much loved piano given funeral and cremation

On a mountainside in Wales overlooking Abergavenny, you could take a guess at what you might expect to see, but it is doubtful that would include one baby grand piano and one upright piano. They had been dumped, presumably by someone with a big van and a lot of strength. This story led to an article about how it is almost impossible to get rid of an unwanted piano nowadays, even if you are prepared to give it away. One man, who has taken his trusty piano round to various gigs for years, decided it was time to exchange it for a keyboard, so he advertised it as free to a good home and got no takers. He couldn't bear to see it chopped up so he invited his friends to a funeral where he delivered a eulogy to his old friend, played it one more time and cremated it.

Well, I never knew that.

Our lovely Embankment Pauline Capell

There was no need to go all the way to Amsterdam this spring to see stunning displays of tulips . You could just take a walk up the Embankment in Bedford and feast your eyes on some stunning displays. The colour theme this spring was pink, yellow and white , colours associated with optimism, cheerfulness, romance, joy and warmth. When the River Festival is on, the colours are blue and white with bits of yellow, and the coronation themed display for the summer will, of course, be red, white and blue. I took a walk on a sunny day to see the spring tulips at their best, and against a backdrop of rowing boats on the river, the weeping willows dipping down towards the water and flocks of swans and geese, what could be better?

I was lucky enough to be a guest at an Inner Wheel meeting where the speaker was Claire Pick, who is in charge of our parks and green spaces in Bedford. Claire was brought up on a farm and the great outdoors is her passion, taking up the post of Environmental and Viability Officer for Bedford in 2017. She has many areas of responsibility but her talk was specifically about her lead role in the design, tender and purchase of the bedding displays, particularly the Embankment Gardens, surely Bedford's jewel in the crown. Bedford's parks and open spaces have won Green Flag awards, sometimes many times over, like Priory Park which has consecutively won 21. They are judged under 8 sections such as a welcoming place, well maintained and clean and biodiversity, and there are 27 criteria to meet under these headings. Claire herself is a judge (though not of course for Bedford), a crafty move as she gets to know exactly what is required.

The Embankment is split into 4 sections, and the spring display contained an eye watering 46,000 tulip bulbs and 21,000 filler and edging plants. All the plants are grown from seed, and Claire has to find nurseries that offer the best value for money within a strict budget. Almost all the bulbs are sourced from Holland, but wild meadow areas, like those near the Mound, feature native mixes, with special attention to those which are pollinator friendly. Some of the bulbs are planted by machine, and Claire told us to look out for it at planting time, as it is fascinating. Amazingly, for those of us who have their bulbs dug up by squirrels in our gardens, squirrels down on the Embankment are better behaved and do not present a problem.

Another question was whether the bulbs are replaced every year, and the answer was yes. Their first year is always the best, and Claire wants them to be at their most vibrant for public enjoyment. However, they are not wasted. The bulbs are given to schools, charities, and Care Homes thus "spreading Embankment joy across the borough".

This year is to be Claire's first attempt at carpet bedding to celebrate Bedford Rotary's Centenary. It will consist mainly of foliage plants with logos and lettering also picked out in plants. We have no doubt it will be eye catching. Sadly she does not have a garden of her own as she lives in a flat, but she has aspirations. Go out and enjoy.

You can go to the website: Bedford.gov.uk/leisure-parks-and-sport, select 'parks and open spaces', then select 'enjoy our parks and open spaces'. You can give some feedback on your enjoyment and appreciation of the flowers in the town, or even sponsor a tree in a park of your choice in memory of a loved one, or just because it's a lovely thing to do.

10,000 ceramic daffodils at Lowther Castle

Do you remember the 888,246 ceramic poppies 'planted' at the Tower of London which filled the moat between July and November 2014? Each represented a British and Commonwealth military fatality during WW1. They were sold to the public for £25 each and 10% of the sale price went to one of 6 service charities.

The idea has been revived and 10,000 ceramic daffodils have been 'planted' in the grounds of Lowther Castle near Ullswater in memory of William Wordsworth's poem, and the lines "Ten thousand saw I at a glance, Tossing their heads in sprightly dance." They are on display from April 24 – June 24 and can be purchased for £25 each, with a percentage of the cost donated to 6 small charities that don't receive significant exposure or funds, such as Friends of Ullswater Way. Once the installation is dismantled, the daffodils will be parcelled up and posted to their buyers.

I purchased one for my sister who loves daffodils and I was number 8214! If you would like one, another 5,000 have been produced to meet demand. www.tenthousanddaffodils .org Pauline Capell

OFFICE FOR NATIONAL STATISTICS. COVID INFECTION SURVEY

I was part of the ONS Covid Survey giving throat swabs and blood samples every month for about 3 years and received a letter recently of which this is an excerpt. "The pandemic is one of the most consequential events in modern history. To better understand the virus, the CIS was launched in April 2020 at great pace.

Since then, over half a million of you have shared 11 million swabs and 3 million blood samples, which we have gathered and analysed. The scale of the survey is truly astounding and is one of the reasons why the CIS is recognised as a "shining example of random sampling".

Frequently cited by the Prime Minister, First Ministers, and Chief Medical Officers, your data helped governments in all four UK nations manage the unprecedented challenges faced during the pandemic.

Known globally as the 'gold standard' for infection analysis, the survey has been recognised by the Centres for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the World Health Organisation (WHO). It has received widespread praise from politicians, academics, and the media alike and is regularly cited as the 'most reliable measure of the prevalence of coronavirus.' Furthermore, it has won multiple awards including the Harding Prize for Useful and Trustworthy Communication and the prestigious <a href="Campion Award for Excellence in Official Statistics." #### In the spotlight Andy and Emma Webber

By Rod Jones

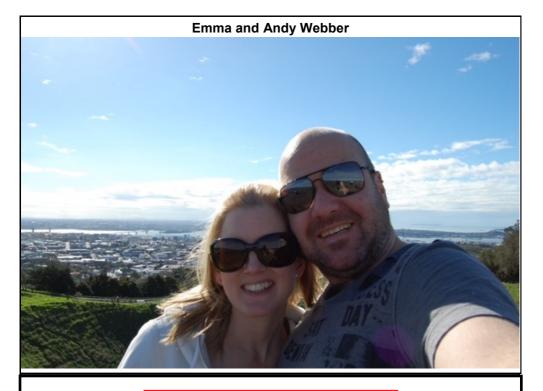

Four years ago, you could walk past the dilapidated barns near the church, and look at the old cars, engines, and farm equipment through the gaps in the door near the pavement. Today, all is changed. The barn conversions are now complete, and the buildings look modern and imposing. Andy and Emma live in the one nearest the church, and as they are both on our magazine delivery team, it gave me the chance for a chat (and to be nosey)! A profile:

One born in Basingstoke, (Hampshire) the other in Gillingham, (Kent), Andy spent his early years growing up in Portugal and Singapore before returning to the UK. They met at Sixth Form college 31 years ago whilst both living in Fleet (Hampshire), married in Singapore in 2007 and before moving to Renhold they lived in High Wycombe, (Bucks) for 13 years. From university, Emma has worked for a well-known tour operator in Central Bedfordshire. However, the long drive to work from High Wycombe was becoming a chore, taking up far too much of her time, so they decided to move closer to her job. They were under pressure to buy as their previous home unexpectedly sold within two weeks, and having exhausted all locations closer to Emma's work, they expanded their search and came to look at the Barn which they had seen online as an artist's impression of where they live now. When they first came to look it was far from ready, in fact just a collection of run-down agricultural buildings and a set of blueprints of the potential, but they really liked the location and the prospect of a quiet village life.

At school, Andy specialised in business studies and finance, while Emma undertook studies in leisure and tourism. His first job was as a supermarket butcher but he had higher ambitions than this and had a lucky break when his father brought him into the dental supplies business he managed. Moving from dental into medical devices, he formed a career within cardiology company's specialising in heart-screening. Prepandemic, his work took him all over the world. In one particular year, he spent 300 days overseas, has now crossed the Atlantic 218 times, been to Canada on 89 occasions and Australia on 37! However, his favourite place is home here, in Renhold with his wife and is thankful the changes in the way people work online post Covid have stopped the extensive travel. He and Emma have no immediate family of their own, but their friends and relatives are always keen to visit and sample the peaceful country life that we all enjoy.

Andy has in fact indirectly featured in one of our earlier issues. From a very young age, he has always been fascinated by cricket, and at his request, we recently featured an article about expanding Wilden cricket club and engaging with other villages to create more awareness of the team. He no longer plays himself; his days as opening batsman having been cut short by injury. However, he still plays an active role in the club, and is their social secretary and community engagement manager. Following our magazine article, which he hoped would attract interest at the junior level, the club enjoyed a very positive response to their All Stars programme, and he thanks us for our generous support. There will be several other community events on offer throughout the summer both at our Village Hall and the one in Wilden. Also watch out for The Polden Cup (27th August), a hoped-for annual tradition, 20 over match and family BBQ, Renhold (Polhill Arms hosted team) v Wilden!

Moving to Renhold has been a dream move. They both love the country walks, and a great village atmosphere. They have made new friends at The Polhill Arms and with neighbours alike. Andy promised me that very soon he will pen an article for us about what it's like to live in Renhold. I look forward to this.

WILD ABOUT RENHOLD by Tony Ploszajski

1. Starling

Starlings have been roaming around the village in small post-breeding flocks of adults and juveniles, one of which alighted in our garden one evening and proceeded to enjoy the benefits of our bird bath. The birds in the photo are all adults, with their glossy dark plumage and the small star-like spots that give them their name. Numbers are sadly declining, both locally and nationally. In November 1951, a roost at Elstow held 250,000 birds (the county record site count) and as recently as 1982, a roost in Leighton Buzzard involved 75,000 birds. This century however, the largest flocks have been numbered in the low thousands, but they are still a spectacular site going to roost in their swirling collective murmurations.

2. Pied Wagtail

Pied Wagtails are also quite frequent around Renhold. A pair nested under our solar panels this year and the adults have entertained us by catching insects around our garden pond. Like Starlings, Pied Wagtails often roost communally in the winter. I can recall them in the bare branches of low trees in Bedford town centre, looking almost like leaves given the numbers festooning each tree. Their preferred summer diet of flies means that they often frequent stables and horse paddocks around the village, flying up onto roofs when disturbed.

3. Kestrel

Kestrels like to find a high vantage point to watch out for prey on the ground below. They achieve this either by hovering over a fixed point or finding a structure like this electricity pylon. This bird is a male, identified by his grey head and grey tail (just visible in the photo above the black band on the end of its tail). Also visible is the dark 'moustachial stripe' below the eye. It is believed that this feature is to cut down on any 'glare' from its otherwise pale cheeks, that might interfere with its laser-like focus on small prey items. The same custom has been adopted by American Football players who often apply a smear of dark greasepaint to their cheekbones in the belief that it absorbs sunlight and harsh stadium lights a case of humans learning from nature!

4. Buttercups

It has been a particularly good spring for Buttercups this year in grassy fields around the village. Technically, their full name is Meadow Buttercup and they are common in a variety of sunny habitats in particular meadows and pastures. It flowers between April and October but is most abundant in the late spring.

5. Crimson Clover

Crimson Clover is another striking flower of the fallow fields. It is also known as Italian Clover and is not native to the UK but seems to have spread quite successfully locally. It is very effective at fixing nitrogen from the air and improving the fertility of the soil, so will hopefully benefit the yield of agricultural crops when the fields rotate back to cultivation.

6. Common Vetch

Common Vetch is a member of the pea family, so has climbing tendrils like other pea species. They seem to thrive in some of the fallow fields around the edge of the village and have a long flowering period through spring and summer. The flowers turn into small pods that contain the seeds or peas.

As the road has been closed at Top End since 11th April it suggests that the responsibility for the majority of the violations in Green End lies with the residents of Green End and Top End driving in excess of the speed limit. Ravensden Rd data only reflects vehicles from 8th May due to a previous defect in the device (now rectified). Martin Warwicker

Renhold Parish Council June Update

BEDFORD BOROUGH COUNCIL LOCAL PLAN INSPECTION HEARINGS LATEST – PROPOSED RENHOLD BUSINESS PARK

The public inspections started on Monday 12th June. The Parish Council have been represented by Councillor Nicky Gribble and Clerk, Lizzie Barnicoat at three sessions so far at the time of writing. The Inspector has been questioning the local authority on their aspirations for science park, campus style development, seeking evidence on such a need for this style of business use. They challenged the job profile data they have based assumptions on from 2011 as being outdated. The Inspector has welcomed input from Renhold Parish Council on some specific items and is taking into consideration the recent East West Rail announcement during the sessions. The Parish Council attention now turns to the EMP6 site specific session, where the Renhold site will be discussed in more detail.

EAST WEST RAIL LINE FINAL ROUTE ANNOUNCEMENT

The Parish Council sent representatives to the Local Representative Groups meeting on 5th June. EWR having recently published their preferred route for the Bedford to Cambridge section following the non-statutory consultation during 2021, have confirmed the preferred route is Route E Option 1. It has a slight variation to incorporate part of option 9 to circumvent Roxton and bring the line into a station at Tempsford.EWR. They did give consideration to Route B, as suggested by the BFARE group however, rather than focus on a route significantly south of the River Ouse, they examined two alternatives referred to as 'varsity and varsity hybrid'. This utilized parts of route 51 (the old rail line) and were a variant of the so called 'B+ Route'. Upon examination, they concluded that these alternatives were not feasible. This is fortunate, as their passage ran parallel with the A421 and would have directly impacted Renhold (Water End and Green End in particular) and the surrounding area and infrastructure. (Continued opposite)

The proposed alignment exits Bedford Midland station to the north (which will be six tracks and require the demolition of housing in the 'Poets' area of Bedford), past Ravensden to its west, eastward above Wilden and then crosses the A421 near Roxton until it eventually meets the main GNR rail line at Tempsford. There appears to be no infrastructure impact to Renhold, but whether construction traffic and material movements would affect Renhold's transport network is currently unclear. The Parish Council will continue to be represented on the Local Representatives Group and engage with EWR to ensure any disruption of the transport network around Renhold has mitigation features inbuilt. The proposed route will be going to Statutory Consultation in the first half of 2024.

YOUR PARISH COUNCIL NEEDS YOU.....

Please also remember there are currently two Parish Council vacancies and there is lots to get stuck into with the Parish Council being active in making a difference with a number of village matters across the whole parish. It would be great to hear from you, so please do get in touch with the Clerk Lizzie or any member of the Parish Council.

RURAL BULKY WASTE SERVICE IN THE PARISH

This service will be back on Saturday 8th July 2023 at Wilden Road, Salph End by the Lay-by Near Numbers 3-9, Salph End from 08:00 - 09:00am. Please note times are approximate to allow travel between sites. Please do not leave rubbish at the site if the collection vehicles are not there.

BUS SERVICE ISSUES GREEN END - MEETING FEEDBACK

Councillors Gribble, Roberts and Warwicker met with Thomas Manship from Grant Palmer to discuss and explore possible ways to overcome the cessation of the No. 27 service due to the road closure. These included: reversing the bus in either Becher Close or on the Green, manoeuvring around the Green, operating a smaller vehicle. Grant Palmer unfortunately informed Councillors they will not perform reversing manoeuvres, apart from in the depot, due to health and safety issues raised by their Risk Assessment (e.g., visibility) and that the drivers' agreement also precludes such activities. The bus is 8/9 metres in length and the Green layout and resident parking does not provide sufficient space for pivot-point turning. Also, they do not have any smaller vehicles and cannot lease any due to the terms of their contract. Grant Palmer have though pleasingly confirmed once the roadworks are complete the 27 service will return to normal line of route and serve Renhold. If Anglian Water are able to complete works with phased lights, Grant Palmer will endeavour to return prior to the finish date in September.

ANNUAL ELECTORS MEETING

Thank you to everyone who came along to the recent meeting, it was lovely to hear from the various village groups and organisations on what they have been up to and what plans they have for the future. PC Vito Napoli came along with PCSO Stephen Tarabella from the local Police team as well as Sarah Stephens, Manager for Community Safety and Resilience from Bedford Borough Council. They gave insightful information in particular on how residents can be supported if they are experiencing anti-social behaviour. Please do report any incidents directly to them, and PC Napoli did encourage residents to ring the Riseley station directly on 01234 842866 so they can act promptly. There was also a lengthy discussion on highways safety in the parish.

GETTING IN TOUCH WITH THE PARISH COUNCIL

Remember you can make contact with Lizzie, the Clerk, or any Councillor on any village matter. Please contact Lizzie, the Clerk, directly on 771702 or at lizzie_barnicoat@hotmail.com The next Parish Council meeting will be on Wednesday 26th July 2023 at 7pm to be held at Renhold Village Hall on Wilden Road, and as always everyone is most welcome.

Some interesting statistics

The number one and main thing that should jump out at all of us is the percentage of people in the world that live to be over 65! Meaning - If you are reading this e-mail, then you and I ARE one of a very few fortunate people!

8% of the world population are over 65 years old

Think about this - If you live in your own home, are able to eat full meals & drink clean water, have a mobile phone, can surf the internet and went to college, you are in a miniscule percentage of the population and are a highly privileged person this day. (This equates to being in the less than 7% category)

If you are already over 65 years old - be content, grateful and thank God; cherish life, grasp every moment.

If you did not leave this world before the age of 64, like the 92 persons who did pass before you, you are truly blessed amongst mankind. Take good care of your own health. Cherish every remaining moment.

If you think you are suffering memory loss, it's called anosognosia and gets interesting.

In the following analysis the French Professor Bruno Dubois, Director of the Institute of Memory and Alzheimer's disease (IMMA) at La Pitié-

Salpêtrière - Paris Hospitals, addresses the subject in a rather reassuring way: "If anyone is aware of their memory problems, they do NOT have Alzheimer's."

- 1 You know you forget names of families.
- 2 You know you don't remember where you put some things, but you remember you had them. This often happens in people 60 years and older and they complain they are losing/lacking their memory.

"All information remains in the brain, but the "processor" is lacking." This is "Anosognosia" or temporary forgetfulness.

Half of people 60 and older have some symptoms due to age rather than disease. Some of the most common cases are:

- forgetting the name of a person,
- going to a room in the house and not remembering why we were going there.
- forgetting a movie title, actor or actress, and
- searching where we left our glasses or keys.

After 60 years most people have some difficulty, which indicates that it is not a disease but rather a characteristic due to the passage of years. Many people are concerned about these oversights, hence the importance of the following statements:

- 1. "Those who are conscious of being forgetful have no serious problem of memory."
- 2. "Those who suffer from a memory illness or Alzheimer's are not aware of what is happening."

Professor Bruno Dubois, Director of IMMA reassures the majority of people concerned about their oversights: "The more we complain about memory loss the less likely we suffer from memory sickness."

This article was sent to me and I forwarded it to some of my friends. Many seemed to identify with it and were reassured and suggested I put it in the magazine. I hope you find it useful. Anne Grant

Renhold Chapel Notes

You do not see many Zimmer frames, wheelchairs or hearing aids on Valentine's Day cards. They mostly seem to be full of young love, hearts and roses. Young love is wonderful and beautiful, full of optimism, and plans and hopes for the future. But love in later life is precious too. It is a love that has been forged through years of shared experiences and joy, maybe raising children together, perhaps enjoying grand-children. It's a love that's stood the test of time, and deeper, much deeper, than any shop-bought Valentine's Day card can describe. That long-term love can also be shown by the devoted wife or husband who visits their spouse in a care home each day, gently talking with them when they are, perhaps, deep into dementia. Or sitting for long hours by a hospital bed. Or dutifully caring for them at home. Love is a marathon, not a sprint. It starts with white lace and promises and grows over the years. Mature love is about the commitment that spans decades and is seldom shown on the cards on sale in the High Street this Valentine's Day.

A priest, when he marries a couple and takes them through their wedding vows, hears them make their lifelong commitment "for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death us do part." It is so wonderful to see the bride and groom smiling, and enjoying this precious moment, making vows that will, hopefully, span the rest of their lives. I love going to weddings – it is an immense privilege to be part of a couple's special day. Moreover, I find myself pondering what the future will hold for them. I wonder what shape that lifelong commitment will take, as I pray a blessing on their marriage. How much wealth or poverty will come their way? Will it be sickness or health that will accompany them through the years? How will they support each other as the years go by? 'Love is patient. Love is kind.' These are familiar words from the popular wedding reading in Paul's letter to the Corinthians. That patience that kindness are qualities that can develop over years of marriage. Just how much patience will be needed in the years ahead cannot usually be known on the wedding day.

So, this year, as I look at the rows of red or pink Valentine's Day cards on sale in the shops, I shall look out for cards that have a deeper message. I shall seek out cards that celebrate long-term love. Cards that say something about the joys and challenges of growing older together. Cards that go beyond hearts and roses to the deeper love that transcends love's first blossoming. I just hope I can find one because it is a big Anniversary this year.

Borough Councillor Report Nicky Gribble

• The East West Rail route announcement was finally released at the end of May. The route chosen travels north out of Bedford station, over the Paula Radcliffe Way and onto the Clapham escarpment. From here, using a mixture of deep cuttings and high viaducts it continues over Graze Hill and continues North directly affecting our friends and neighbours in Ravensden, Wilden, Colseden, Roxton and others along that line. The route that was proposed to run through Ravensden and Renhold is no longer being considered but the decision will have a significant impact on us and others during construction. (contd opposite)

We are working closely to understand all the implications for our residents and possible mitigation measures for the disruption which will be substantial, costly and long lasting.

- The hearing for the examination for the soundness of the Bedford Borough Local Plan 2040 started on Monday 12th and will carry on for two weeks for the first block of scrutiny.
- •Lizzie Barnicoat and I are attending all sessions relevant to the proposed Science Park at Green End/ Water End either in person or virtually depending on the numbers attending each meeting. It is a formal process with representatives from Parish Councils, The Borough Council, Developers, members of the public and press. The submitted plan is examined by the Inspector who may question anyone who is registered to speak. We are only allowed to speak on matters contained within the plan which we submitted last year and the Inspector does not necessarily comment and may just make a note of the observation made. The Borough has acknowledged the high number of Renhold residents' comments on this proposal.

Bedford Borough Council responds to proposals to withdraw Day Travelcards

Bedford Borough Council has responded to proposals from Transport for London (TfL) that could adversely affect many travellers from Bedford to London. TfL is proposing to withdraw Day Travelcards, which offer travel by tube, bus and rail within London. Travellers from Bedford who currently buy a Day Travelcard with their train ticket will instead have to use other options such as contactless payment, which will often cost more. The Council's response makes it clear that this proposal will have a negative impact on the residents of Bedford Borough and urges TfL to think again.

Councillor Jim Weir, Portfolio Holder for Environment, Highways, and Transport, said, "It is vital that we stand up for the residents of Bedford Borough and I hope that Transport for London takes the time to fully understand our response.

"I wish to thank the officers involved in putting together a clear and detailed response to this proposal from Bedford Borough Council."

If the proposal came into place TfL would no longer sell, issue, or accept all adult and child Day Travelcards covering zones 1-9, including Group Day

The response from Bedford Borough Council calculates a range of different potential impacts, for various journeys and passengers. People who benefit from railcard discounts, but who cannot put their railcard on an Oyster card, will be hardest hit. Anyone who makes several journeys within London while they are there is also likely to end up paying more.

Commuters who use full season tickets are not affected, and people who do not travel far beyond their destination station within London may also be unaffected.

• A big thanks to everyone who supported me in my recent election and who continue to do so. I am still attending every Borough training session I can as well as supporting people in our community. Please do not hesitate to get in touch for information, advice or just a chat. I'll do my best to help or find someone who can. Cllr.
